Penny (London), 978x1016 http://finds.org.uk/database/artefacts(record/id/473723

Also a “hoard of Saxon coins, covering the period AD 752 - 890 was found in a wooden box when ploughing at Winterfold Hanger, Lower Merriden Farm, in 1817 [TQ 1526 4589]. It comprised approx. 700 coins, principally of Ethelwulf [839-58] and Aethelbearht [860-65], and included coins of Cioiwulf I, Biornwulf, Wiglaf, Berhtulf, Burgred, Eadmund, Ethelstan, Ceolnoth, Ecgbeorht, and Pepin, King of Soissons. Some are in the British Museum. The present whereabouts of the balance of the coins has not been discovered.” http://pastscape.org.uk/hob.aspx?hob_id=396923. This is the “hoard from Dorking (dep. c. 862)...[containing] coins stretching back to the first half of the century...presumably drawn from savings rather than currency”; furthermore “…the Dorking hoard, deposited c. 860 or a little later, which contained approximately 350 Inscribed Cross coins, c. 100 of Æthelwulf and c. 250 of Æthelberht...[but only] a single coin of Burgred by the moneyer Tatel.” (Grierson & Blackburn 2007, 309). Series Blb, 680x710 (or 710x50) http://finds.org.uk/database/artefacts(record/id/268642

“All three coins come from the Primary Series of the English silver pennies, dating from c. AD 680-710. One of the coins is of Series A, the other two of Series BI. These two series are of the same date, and are routinely found in association, so to find three coins of the same date in such a small area strongly suggests that they were deposited together, and should be considered as a single group for Treasure purposes.” (Gareth Williams)
